3. Authorization of guards and watchmen

Any administrative officer or any police officer of or above the rank of Assistant Superintendent may authorize in writing any person performing the duties of a guard or a watchman in a protected place or a protected area to exercise the powers of an authorized officer in such place or area.

4. Protected places

- (1) If, in regard to any premises, it appears to the Minister to be necessary or expedient that special precautions should be taken to prevent the entry of unauthorized persons, he may, in his discretion, by order declare those premises to be a protected place for the purposes of this Act; and so long as the order is in force no person shall be in those premises unless he is in possession of a permit issued by such authority or person as may be specified in the order, or has received the permission of an authorized officer on duty at those premises to enter them.

- (2) Where under this section any person is granted permission to be in a protected place, that person shall, while acting under such permission, comply with such directions for regulating his conduct as may be given by the authority or person granting the permission, and an authorized officer or any person authorized in that behalf by the occupier of the premises may search any person entering, or seeking to enter, or being in a protected place, and may detain any such person for the purpose of searching him.
- (3) If any person is in a protected place in contravention of this section or, while in such place, fails to comply with any directions given under this section, he shall be liable to a fine of £1,000 and to imprisonment for five years, and he may in addition be removed from the place by an authorized officer or by any person authorized in that behalf by the occupier of the premises.
- (4) Permits issued under subsection (1) shall be in such form as the authority or other person issuing them may determine.
- (5) An authorized officer may exempt any person or any class of persons from complying with this section.

5. Protected areas

- (1) If, in regard to any area it appears to the Minister to be necessary or expedient that special measures should be taken to control the movements and conduct of persons, he may, in his discretion, by order declare such area to be a protected area.

On any such appeal the Minister may revoke or vary the directions given by the Permanent Secretary, and notice in writing of such revocation or variation shall be given by the Permanent Secretary to the occupier concerned.
- (3) If an occupier fails or refuses within a reasonable time to comply with directions given under subsection (1), or where such directions have been varied by the Minister, with the directions as

8. Safeguarding of information

- (1) The Minister, in his discretion, may, by notice in writing, require an occupier of any protected place or area to take such steps as the Minister, in his discretion, may deem necessary in the public interest for the safeguarding of information relating to such place or area, or for the security of any classified information or document which may be furnished to such occupier in his capacity as such, by any public officer.
- (2) Any person who fails to comply with any of the requirements of a notice issued to him under subsection (1) shall be liable to a fine of £50 and to imprisonment for six months.

9. Regulations
